Lucerne – The city. The lake. The mountains.

Lucerne is Switzerland: The City. The Lake. The Mountains. Whatever you expect from a unique city, Lucerne will not disappoint you. The avant-garde, in the form of the futuristic KKL Luzern designed by Jean Nouvel, is just as at home here as historic sights which have survived for centuries. The museums, theatres and festivals make Lucerne a city of culture, which elegantly holds its own amongst traditions and trends. Immerse yourself in this town, enjoy the magnificent landscape, stroll along the quays and don't be surprised when you feel you never want to leave. Lucerne's charm is legendary. And we extend a warm welcome to you.

Encounter history face-to-face on our guided tours of the city. Women in medieval costumes bring the past to life, with its smells, sights, sounds and sensations.

Brief respite in Lucerne

Don’t worry, we won’t put you in the pillory, but you will have to allow us to lead you in chains into the prison.

Come with us on a journey back in time through the dark centuries in Lucerne and experience at first hand the history of crime and punishment at the original places where sentences were carried out. Our tour guide will explain the manner and customs of punishment and penalties to you and will, temporarily, incarcerate you in the medieval dungeon, the Water Tower. In addition we show you in the Historical Museum the guillotine ordered from Johann Büchler in May 1836. At a demonstration held in September of the same year the public witnessed the decapitation of a ram.

You may extend your brief respite with an aperitif and guillotine punch in the Storchenbar.

Façades tell stories

Created for the love of colour and decoration, by commission or to express a message, painted façades date back to the 1513 chronicles of Diebold Schilling. With fresh eyes, take a stroll past the buildings and let our city guide tell you about the origin of the paintings as well as the history of the artists and homeowners. The tour covers everything from monochromatic techniques to American-style street art, from Seraphin Weingartner to Hans Erni as well as the campaign to keep Lucerne’s buildings free of vandalism. Façades tell us fascinating stories about traditions, celebrations, residents’ professions and family experiences. Come along and discover another layer of Lucerne!

Lucerne's fortification – the Musegg Wall

The 14th century was a turbulent time of power struggles. The Habsburgs, who later became Europe's most powerful rulers, were especially active in their efforts to expand their territory. Lucerne – which had declared independence from Habsburg and joined the Swiss Federation in 1332 – was still important to the Habsburgs. The Battle of Sempach in 1386 was a major event in the struggle between the Habsburgs and the Swiss.

The Musegg Wall, built between 1370 and 1442, is part of the historical city fortification that once had 30 towers. What remains of the wall today is 870 metres long, nine metres tall (on average) and 1.5 metres thick. There are now nine towers, four of which are open to the public during the summer months. Visitors can also walk along the top of the wall. From here there is an impressive view of the city, the lake and the Alpine panorama.

This tour of the wall includes a trip back in time to learn about Lucerne's history in the Middle Ages. The guide will also explain how the wall was restored without damaging its appearance or harming the rare plants and animals that live near this national landmark.

You will also hear meaningful and funny stories of Lucerne's December customs. Not to be missed: a stroll through the Christmas market and a look at the life-sized nativity scene. We'll help you shorten the wait until Christmas!

Lucerne and wine

That wine has always been a great tradition in Lucerne is evident from the name of one of the town's most important market squares, namely the Wine Market.

The town's population could enjoy not only Lucerne – and Swiss wines but also international vintages. The trading route over the Gotthard saw a brisk trade with Italy in particular. After the 1.5-hour city stroll, you make a stop at the fine VOM FASS-shop on the Franziskaner Square. You have a short stay in the Liebenau's House, a Late Gothic building from the first half of the 16th century. There is a fascinating presentation of more than 50 different oil and vinegar specialities for the epicure and passionate cook – the world of quality cuisine. In daily use also oil and vinegar create variety in the planning of meals. Test and enjoy by dipping small pieces of bread into a carefully chosen selection.

City walk with Lion Monument and Bourbaki Panorama

The Bourbaki Panorama by Edouard Castres is a testament to the public's appetite for visual sensations. The huge circular painting, 10 meters in height, with a circumference of 112 meters, which dates from 1881, is one of the most visually arresting works in the history of the media and, with its call to humanity, depicts an exceptional event in history.

People in the 18th and 19th centuries were, as today, driven by a craving to be whisked away to foreign parts by the medium of the optical illusion. The purpose of the Panorama in those days was to amaze, inform and entertain at one and the same time.

Why not immerse yourself in those winter days of 1871 and witness at first hand!

Devil's tracks

You won't meet the devil itself but the tracks are there. Deeply carved into the rock, you will encounter them all along the way. If you believe the local myth the devil carved them deep into the limestone by its claws. Fierce and beautiful is the Schratzenflue. Even the sight of the carved surface – a huge, field of carvings resembling a snow field in the sun – looks breathtaking. But even its insides, several caves are spectacular. Over the deep carvings you get down into the deep of the Silwängen caves.

Whiners

Whiners get rather cold feet on this tour. But adventurers get their chances. In sand, gravels, rock and rock walls you will see and hear hissing, gushing and splashing. Waterfall, natural pools and meanderings engrave the landscape of the untamed river Grosse Entle. You will walk a small part of the 18 kilometres along the river. Good on, you if you can laugh at the whining of the wimps about wet socks and soaked shoes.
